LORETTA CLAIBORNE & SUE PATERNO ENDOWMENT

FOR

Special Olympics
Pennsylvania

LABOR OF LOVE

Loretta Claiborne was born partially blind and intellectually challenged. She got involved with Special Olympics Pennsylvania (SOPA) when she attended the first ever SOPA competition. From there she not only developed into a world-class runner but also has won medals in dozens of SOPA events. Throughout all of her achievements, Loretta never stopped striving to show that persons with intellectual and physical disabilities are equal to those without. Sue Paterno began her labor of love with Special Olympics in 1992 after joining the SOPA Board of Directors, where she continues to serve. Sue is a key member of our Summer Games Committee and has been instrumental in the establishment and growth of the Paterno Family Beaver Stadium Run. The Loretta Claiborne & Sue Paterno Endowment for Special Olympics Pennsylvania honors their passion, commitment and generous spirit.

Endowment donors have a unique opportunity to touch countless athlete lives for generations to come.

MISSION & PROGRAMS

For over 50 years, Special Olympics PA has used the power of sports to transform the lives of people with intellectual disabilities, providing opportunities to develop physical fitness, demonstrate courage, experience joy, and participate in a sharing of gifts, skills and friendship with their families, other Special Olympics athletes, and the community.

Over 16,000 athletes engage in year-round athletic training and competition in Olympic-type sports each year – provided by SOPA at no cost. The benefits of participation translate far beyond sports, as SOPA athletes get physically fit, learn social and life skills, demonstrate competence to themselves, their families and their communities, and live more independent and rewarding lives. Special Olympics Pennsylvania engages, empowers, and transforms communities to ensure full inclusion for people with intellectual disabilities.

HONOR LORETTA & SUE'S LEGACIES

WHAT DOES THE ENDOWMENT FUND?

The Loretta Claiborne & Sue Paterno Endowment Fund benefits Special Olympics Pennsylvania in perpetuity. Each year, a portion of the earned interest of the invested gift is used to support athletes to connect with others (those with and without intellectual disabilities), improve their health and fitness, and develop leadership skills – all through competitive sports! The remainder is added to the original principal, which continues to grow.

If you are interested in making a contribution that will honor Sue and have a lasting impact on the future of the organization, a gift to the Sue Paterno Endowment is an ideal opportunity. Your support will change the future for people with intellectual disabilities and light the way for acceptance and inclusion.
