

HOW FAR IS 6 FEET?

Two Golden Retrievers standing nose to tail

The average Golden Retriever has a body length of 37 to 42 inches. Two of these dogs should amount to just over 72 inches, or 6 feet.

The length of a mattress

The lengths of full- and twin-size beds are about 6.2 feet from top to bottom.

A dining room table

Try imagining you and your friend sitting across from each other at a long, fancy dining table -- some of them stretch 6 feet across.

A 6-foot long bathtub

A more relaxing comparison: Some bathtubs are 72 inches long.

A sofa

A standard three-seat sofa can be up to 6 feet long -- which means that you and the person sitting on the other end of it probably aren't far away enough from each other.

An average sedan

Think of the width of your car when trying to gauge an appropriate distance -- an average large sedan is a little more than 6 feet wide.
